Pathway to Law Initiative: Native American Law School Admissions Workshop

The Native American Pathway to Law Pre-Law programs educate and help students successfully navigate the law school application process. The workshops will assist participants in preparing competitive applications. Come learn how to successfully apply to law school and network with law school professionals.

Who should attend?

College Sophomores, Juniors/Seniors, master's students and college graduates preparing for law school.

Why attend?

- Learn about law school and career options
- Obtain information about the varied admissions criteria for law school
- Work with mentors to develop an effective application, resume, and personal statement
- Explore law school funding options
- Receive test prep tips for the LSAT
- Network with other participants, faculty, and professionals
- Hear from former and current American Indian law students

Please see Pathway to Law Initiative | ASU | Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law for more information! Look out for application opening at the beginning of 2025!

LSAT Preparation

What is the LSAT?

The LSAT is an important part of law school admission. The LSAT is designed to test your reading comprehension, reasoning, and writing skills. The test results help admission decision makers and candidates gain valuable insight on law school readiness.

Why is it important to prepare for the LSAT?

LSAT scores provide an accurate prediction of a candidate's first-year performance in law school. LSAT scores are used as a predictor of first-year law school performance.
